Summary

I am a highly motivated and inspired developer who is looking for gainful employment in the area of mobile app development or front-end web development. I have experience developing Wordpress sites and interactive web pages, but desire to learn much more to become a more well-rounded web developer. I hope to join a supportive team where creativity is encouraged, resourcefulness is rewarded, and all ideas are welcome.

WEB DEVELOPER

Developing Wordpress sites for a multitude of high-volume clients and optimizing their sites for the best possible user experience. My biggest accomplishments at LSM include:

- Implementing custom widgets that are heavily featured and have a very positive impact on site performance.
- Streamlining communication between the designer and account managers by providing constructive feedback and design suggestions
- Involved in all stages of website development from the site mapping stage to deployment
- Responsible for both creating and enriching a website that has the most monthly website traffic of any of LSM's current clients
- Created a more fun and welcoming work environment for co-workers

2019 - present

SELF-TAUGHT DEVELOPER

Learned about basic web development tools, best practices, and creative ways to solve problems. I also learned about frameworks and libraries that can expedite the development process; for example, some of my projects were built using React and Bootstrap. my personal accomplishments as a result of teaching myself are:

- Creating a multitude of web applications, each intended to exercise a particular skill
- Finished techdegree in about 6 months
- Learning how important it is to fail in order to succeed
